Lingo is Smarter Business Communications in the Cloud

Reliability and Experience

Reliability and call quality are our top priority at Lingo. As an early pioneer in VoIP technology, we built our own 100% native, fully meshed VoIP network with thousands of access points throughout the US, giving us the ability to originate and terminate traffic virtually anywhere with confidence. Our fully-redundant, next-generation soft switches and application servers and devices are hosted in multiple, fully meshed Tier I global data centers in Dallas, Los Angeles and New York, with redundant power backups.

Business Continuity

Disaster recovery included in our cloud-hosted solution ensures your phones keep ringing even if the office is out of commission. Calls can be rerouted to any number or a mobile device easily through our web-based portal.

Mobility and Device Unification

Employees can work and collaborate anywhere, receive and place calls when, how and where they want – desk phone, on the road, working from home, hotel, or anywhere in the world. One number rings all devices and outbound calls from our mobile app for iOS and Android or softphone display the user's work number.

Operational Excellence

Lingo doesn't just send you a box of phones! We've invested heavily in provisioning and support teams with expert sales engineers and service delivery technicians, dedicated to guaranteeing a trouble-free installation experience. This commitment to operational excellence extends beyond installation, throughout the life of the relationship with our 100% US-based support for every customer.

Flexibility and Scalability

Since Lingo is hosted in the cloud, your employees can be office- or home-based, around the corner or across the globe. Unite multi-site locations with ease. Moves, adds and changes are handled easily through an online portal with no need for on-site technical support. Easily manage your phone system and advanced features online. And as you need 5 or 50 additional phones, we stand ready to implement your growth plans at the drop of a hat.

Meaningful Savings

With Lingo, there is no PBX equipment to purchase or install and no added maintenance contracts or IT staff needed to maintain or upgrade your PBX technology. Updates are free and advanced calling features are constantly being added for no additional charge. With just one low monthly fee for enterprise-grade features plus unlimited local and long-distance calling, you have the perfect combination of savings and the ability to anticipate and budget your telco costs. Our satisfied customers report savings of 30-50% over traditional carriers.
